

Edmoxie Weekly Update

Thought Leadership For Educators Podcast

Hi!

Did you miss me? If you're feeling like you didn't hear from me last week, you're correct. I simply fell behind, and I didn't get anything out to you. No worries, I didn't have any new TL4Ed Live! episodes last week. I do have another episode coming (see below).

Also, I wanted to share more thoughts with you, and I hope you'll share some of your thoughts back to me in the comments. What's on my mind? I've been thinking that we're on the verge of a significant change in how we think about edtech in schools. Please take a look at my latest blog post:

Goodbye to BYOD, Hello New Normal

There's a lot of talk going on now about the "New Normal" and what will life be like after the quarantines end. Will there be an effective vaccine? And if so, when will it be widely available? What happens if we are unable to develop an effective vaccine? Or, even if we do, will K12 schooling be forever changed as we all reconsider what it means to be prepared for a the next pandemic? – Read on...

#TL4ED Live!
Engaging Students Through Family Story Telling
May 19, 2020 — 7:00 PM Eastern

Thought Leadership For Educators
Guest: Carey Furze

Register: jmao.me/TL4Ed-519

May 19, 2020 — 7PM ET
Engaging Students Through Family Story Telling
Guest: Carey Furze

Learn More and Registration

New to the Podcast

- #15 Rethinking Tech Support For The COVID19 Quarantine
- #14 Considerations for Remote Learning Through The Lens of SAMR and the EdTech Quintet \(part 3\)
- #13 Supporting Teachers With Free Tool